

Charlemont Grant Report

Recipient Name:	Dr Garrick Allen
Discipline:	Humanities and Social Sciences
Amount and year awarded:	€1,600 in 2019
Title of Project:	Apocalyptic Books: Manuscripts, Material Culture, and the New Testament

Summary of findings:	This grant enabled me to travel to Munich and Regensburg to present the final version of a chapter on a monograph entitled Manuscripts of the Book of Revelation (Oxford University Press, 2020) at the Centre for Advanced Studies in Munich and the Beyond Canon Institute in Regensburg. These conversation deeply influenced the final shape of the book and helped to increase the scope of the critical discussion.
Plans for continuing collaboration:	I was made a fellow of the Beyond Canon Institute in Regensburg and we are developing plans for an extended research visit there in the coming years and we hope to develop exchange relationships for faculty and students between Regensburg and DCU. I am also continuing to collaborate with Martin Wallraff in Munich on two funded projects that I am leading in Dublin.
Publication plans:	This grant has enabled me to complete a major monograph and to begin to write a journal article on the paratexts of Gospel manuscripts.
International dissemination:	During this trip I have three presentations related to this publication: a paper at the Centre for Advanced Studies in Munich, a workshop on my related largescale research projects to the ParaTexBib project team in Munich, and to the Beyond Canon Institute in Regensburg.
National dissemination:	I have not given any papers related to this award in Ireland.
Additional collaborations:	I have collaborated with the Centre for Advanced Studies in Munich, the ParaTexBib research team in Munich, and the Beyond Canon Institute. This award has strengthened ongoing relationships with each of these international entities.
Outreach:	On this book, I have done no explicit public engagement activities. My recent ERC funding was mentioned in the Irish Times (https://www.irishtimes.com/news/education/ireland-secures-just-one-of-over-400-european-research-grants-1.4017584) and the Journal (https://www.thejournal.ie/irish-researcher-million-new-testament-4798302-Sep2019/).
